A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

THE WHITE HOUSE

The following is a list of the names of the persons who have been appointed to the various committees of the Board of Directors of the Bank of the City of New York, for the year ending December 31, 1900:

THE WHITE HOUSE, at Norfolk, Connecticut, where the club was founded, was built in 1798-1799 by Squire Joseph Battell, and has been continuously occupied by members of his family up to the present time. The house, which has always been painted white, has been partly rebuilt during the past three years.

The White House takes its name from family diaries of 1799-1800, in which it is frequently referred to as the "White House on the Hill," thus antedating the naming of the Executive Mansion at Washington, District of Columbia, by several years.

The barn is a modern structure, in the right wing of which the annual banquets of the club are held.

THE LITCHFIELD COUNTY UNIVERSITY CLUB

So far as known, the first suggestion of a Litchfield County University Club was made at a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stoeckel in the winter of 1896 to the college and university graduates residing in Norfolk, and with Mr. Stoeckel undoubtedly originated the first idea of such an organization.

At this meeting a Norfolk University Club was organized, and the suggestion of a county university club was presented and discussed. In accordance with the suggestions made at this meeting, the college graduates of Norfolk, together with representatives from the college and university men of several of the surrounding towns of the county, met by invitation on Friday evening, May 29,

THE LITCHFIELD COUNTY UNIVERSITY CLUB

1896, at the White House, to perfect plans, if it should seem desirable, for the organization of a university club that should include all the towns of Litchfield County. There were present at this meeting graduates of Yale, Amherst, Cornell, Williams, and two German universities.

After enjoying a most bountiful dinner, the gathering was called to order by Professor Gustave J. Stoeckel, Professor of Music at Yale University, and the idea of forming a Litchfield County University Club was discussed and met with the enthusiastic approval of all present. Letters of regret were also read from several prominent graduates who expressed hearty sympathy with the movement and promised their cordial support. It was then voted to form a preliminary organization for a Litchfield County University Club, and the following officers were duly elected:

President, Professor GUSTAVE J. STOECKEL.

Secretary-Treasurer, Principal HOWARD W. CARTER.

Vice-Presidents:

The Reverend BENJAMIN A. DEAN, Colebrook.

The Honorable THEODORE SEDGWICK GOLD, Cornwall.

Headmaster EDWARD G. COY, Lakeville.

Editor GEORGE C. WOODRUFF, Litchfield.

The Reverend FRANK A. JOHNSON, New Milford.

The Reverend JOHN DE PEU, Norfolk.

SAMUEL A. EDDY, Esquire, North Canaan.

The Reverend CHARLES H. SMITH, Plymouth.

The Reverend JOHN CALVIN GODDARD, Salisbury.

The Reverend C. C. TIFFANY, D.D., Sharon.

RALPH S. GOODWIN, M.D., Thomaston.

THE LITCHFIELD COUNTY UNIVERSITY CLUB

The Reverend HENRY M. ROBERTS, Torrington.

Principal JOHN E. BRINSMADE, Washington.

The Honorable GEORGE M. CARRINGTON, Winchester.

The Reverend J. L. R. WYCOFF, Woodbury.

AN executive committee consisting of President Stoeckel, Professor Coy of Lakeville, Judge Carrington of Winsted, Editor George C. Woodruff of Litchfield, and Secretary H. W. Carter of Norfolk, was also elected with power to fill out the list of vice-presidents so that each town in the county should be represented. This committee was also directed to draw up a Constitution and By-Laws to be presented at a future meeting.

The sentiment of the meeting was that the vice-presidents might organize local university clubs in their respective towns, and that the aim of the general organization should be to create an association which should hold occasional meetings and bring together, from time to time, in an agreeable manner and at a very small expense, the college and university graduates of Litchfield County.

In response to the invitations which had been quite generally extended to the university men of the county, between fifty and sixty guests were present at the first annual meeting and banquet of the club, which was again held by invitation at the White House, June 16, 1897. At this meeting the committee appointed the previous year presented the following Constitution, which, after discussion, was unanimously adopted:

THE LITCHFIELD COUNTY UNIVERSITY CLUB

Hills about the time of the annual meeting of the club in June. In the center is an open book with the inscription: "Litchfield County University Club, 1896," while underneath is the Latin legend, "Lux, Caritas, Unitas, Constantia," the initials of these words being also the initials of the name of the club.

A cordial invitation on behalf of Professor Coy and the masters of the Hotchkiss School was extended to the club to meet with them in the autumn, and from this time to the present, what may be called a mid-season meeting has been held with some one of the various local chapters of the club, while the annual meeting has thus far always been held at the White House, which has come to be known as the "home" of the club in Norfolk.

As Professor Stoeckel was unable to serve another year as president, Professor Edward G. Coy, headmaster of the Hotchkiss School at Lakeville, was chosen for the ensuing year, and to this important office he has been unanimously reelected ever since.

And it is proper here to state that to Professor Coy's enthusiastic support, as well as to his rare personal qualities, the club is greatly indebted for its remarkable growth and success.

Eighteen colleges and universities were represented at this meeting, as follows: Amherst, Baltimore University, Boston University, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Hamilton, University of Leipsic, New York University, Princeton, Rochester, Rutgers, Stevens Institute, Trinity, Union, Washington University, Williams, and Yale.

The first mid-season meeting was held at the Hotchkiss School on the evening of November 23, 1897, where, in spite of the somewhat unfavorable weather conditions, more than sixty college men, representing twenty-two colleges and universities in this country and Europe, were present to enjoy the generous hospitality of Professor and Mrs. Coy and the masters of this well-known school. At the business meeting on this occasion, according to the report of one member present, the time was taken up chiefly with accepting gifts from Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stoeckel of Norfolk, who not only worked up the idea of such an organization and started it most auspiciously, but are continually placing the members under deeper obligations by their extreme generosity. At this time, in addition to presenting a very handsome seal and a complete supply of stationery with the club's crest stamped thereon, they offered to give the sum of one thousand dollars as the nucleus of a permanent fund for the club, and extended a cordial invitation to hold the next annual meeting at their home in Norfolk.

Among the speakers of the evening were Professor (now President) Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University, New York, and Professor John H. Wright of Harvard. The latter began his address by saying that President Eliot had told him that "Litchfield County, for its size and population, had done more for education than any other section of the United States."

The meeting at Lakeville added greatly to the strength and high character already attained by the club.

The preparations made for the second annual meeting of the club at Norfolk, June 8, 1898, were most elaborate, and disclosed in every detail the work of refined taste and painstaking thoughtfulness for the comfort and pleasure of every guest.

THE LITCHFIELD COUNTY UNIVERSITY CLUB

The music by Diller's octet from New York, the dinner by Delmonico of the same town, and the charming environment formed by the numerous college banners, emblems, trophies, flags, bunting, and streamers which covered the interior of the banquet-hall, specially erected for the purpose at the rear of the Battelle homestead, all combined to make the occasion long to be remembered with feelings of keenest delight and grateful recollection.

Including invited guests, about one hundred and twenty-five were present, and, taken altogether, it was the unanimous feeling that on this occasion the objects for which the club was founded, viz., to bring the college and university men all over the county into closer acquaintanceship in an agreeable manner, and to aid the cause of the higher education and good government among us, had certainly been accomplished in an eminent degree. At the business meeting the matter of securing a charter for the club was taken up on the report of the president, which included a written opinion from Messrs. Warner and Landon of Salisbury. The questions suggested by these gentlemen were all referred to a committee consisting of the Honorable George M. Woodruff, Judge Andrews of Litchfield, and Howard F. Landon, Esquire, of Salisbury. An invitation to meet with the Winsted chapter in November or December was presented by Dr. John E. Clarke and accepted with thanks. Among the distinguished guests and speakers of the evening were Lieutenant-Governor Dewell of New Haven, a native of Norfolk, who responded to the toast of "Connecticut," and ex-Governor and ex-Congressman John W. Stewart of Vermont, a relative of the Battelle family, who very happily spoke of Vermont as being the daughter of

Connecticut, and of the number of Litchfield County men who were among her early settlers and prominent citizens.

The second annual fall meeting was held at the new and elegantly equipped Hotel Winchester, Winsted, on the evening of December 16, 1898, when nearly one hundred members of the club were most generously entertained by the brothers of the Winsted chapter, with whom were joined the members from Colebrook and New Hartford. The business enterprise of Winsted is well known and acknowledged far and wide, and it is sufficient to say that the hospitality exhibited by the members of the Winsted chapter on this occasion was a credit to the town as well as to the local membership of the club. Nothing was left undone by them which could contribute to the success of the meeting, and it was felt by all friends of the organization that the club was now well established and its future assured. The report of the committee on permanent organization was read and accepted, and in accordance with its suggestions Judge Gideon H. Welch of Torrington, Howard F. Landon of Salisbury, and James P. Woodruff of Litchfield were appointed a committee to secure the incorporation of the club by special act of the General Assembly at the next session.

At the third annual meeting, held at Norfolk, June 8, 1899, the charter for the club granted by the General Assembly through the efforts of the committee having the matter in charge, Judge Gideon H. Welch of Torrington, Howard F. Landon, Esquire, of Salisbury, and James P. Woodruff, Esquire, of Litchfield, was read and unanimously accepted, and a vote of thanks given the committee for their efficient and gratuitous services. A committee consisting of the following gentlemen was appointed to revise the constitution and by-laws and report to the club at the fall meeting: President Coy, Judge Carrington, Mr. Dudley L. Vaill, Howard F. Landon, Esquire, and Secretary Carter.

At the close of the business meeting the company, numbering about one hundred and fifty, were assembled, and, preceded by Diller's Band, marched to the spacious hall of the new carriage barn, which had been transformed for the occasion into a veritable bower of beauty. In the construction of this splendid building special thought of the comfort and convenience of the club had been kept prominently in mind, the main hall or room (of one ell) being not only admirably adapted to its purpose, but the same attention being bestowed upon the equally important department of the building devoted to the use of the chef and his assistants. All who have seen this place will agree that it adequately meets all the requirements of a thoroughly equipped banqueting-hall, and is a most fitting home for the club. The following description of an incident of peculiar interest at this banquet is from an article by Editor George C. Woodruff of Litchfield, a charter member of the club, to whose energy and enthusiasm, it may be remarked, the club is under deep obligations from the very first: "Perhaps the pleasantest feature of the evening was a break in the toasts and the presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Stoeckel by President Coy, on behalf of the members of the club, of a very handsome solid silver loving-cup. On one side is the inscription 'Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stoeckel, from the Litchfield County University Club, June 8th, 1899,' and on the other side is engraved the crest of the club. At the close of the spring meeting the company, numbering about one hundred and fifty, were assembled, and, presided by Robert Hunt, proceeded to the spacious hall of the new meeting house, which had been transformed for the occasion into a splendid house of beauty. In the construction of this splendid meeting special thought of the comfort and convenience of the club had been kept prominently in mind, the main hall or room (of one ell) being not only admirably adapted to its purpose, but the same attention being bestowed upon the equally important department of the building devoted to the use of the club and its members. All who have seen this place will agree that it admirably meets all the requirements of a thoroughly equipped meeting hall, and is a most fitting home for the club. The following description of an incident of particular interest in the program is from an article by Edwin George C. Woodruff of Litchfield, a charter member of the club. In Edwin's energy and enthusiasm, it would be difficult for the club to under deep obligations from the very first. Among the pleasantest feature of the evening was a speech by the hosts and the presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff by President Coy, on behalf of the members, of a gift of a very handsome solid silver loving-cup. On one side is the inscription "Mr. and Mrs. Carl Woodruff from the Litchfield County University Club, June 24th, 1904" and on the other side is engraved the crest of the club. The gift was only a slight expression of the feeling of respect and gratitude which is held by every college man in the county toward Mr. and Mrs. Stoeckel. They founded the club, and their generosity and hospitality have been unparalleled. They have not only brought into close union the college men of Litchfield County, but in so doing they have increased fourfold the power for good of the educated men of this section of our beloved Commonwealth. We are better, stronger, truer men to-day than ever before. We represent colleges and universities all over the world, but we are united by the one common purpose to so make the most of the opportunities we have enjoyed that our towns, county, state, and country may be better because we have lived."

An invitation to meet with the Torrington chapter in the autumn was given by Professor Edwin S. Forbes and very heartily accepted.

As usual, the after-dinner speaking was of a high order and well worthy of the occasion and the audience, but space forbids more than the briefest reference.

Among the speakers were the Reverend John Calvin Goddard of Salisbury, the Reverend John Hutchins of Litchfield, Professor Bernadotte Perrin and Professor Arthur Woodford of New Haven, Judge A. T. Roraback of Canaan, the Honorable Donald T. Warner of Salisbury, and the honored and respected patriarch of the club, the Honorable Theodore Sedgwick Gold of Cornwall, the oldest college graduate in the county and one of the oldest living graduates of Yale, his class being that of 1838. Mr. Gold was not only one of the charter members, but has been one of the most regular attendants at the subsequent meetings of the club, and has done much to advance its interests.

THE LITCHFIELD COUNTY UNIVERSITY CLUB

At the third annual mid-season meeting, held at Conley's Inn, Torrington, on the evening of December 7, 1899, nearly one hundred members and guests were present, and the club was most royally entertained by their brethren of the Torrington chapter.

Among the speakers of the evening were President George Williamson Smith of Trinity, and Chief Justice Charles B. Andrews of Litchfield, who spoke delightfully on the "Reminiscences of a Country Schoolmaster."

At this meeting a resolution was adopted directing the committee on revising the constitution to introduce a clause limiting the number of active members to one hundred and seventy-five, and that a waiting-list be prepared. The givers of the fund of a thousand dollars toward a permanent fund also offered to add to this sum enough more to enable the club to purchase a United States Government 1925 four-per-cent. gold bond for $1000, and upon the suggestion of Mr. Brooks of Torrington, a registered bond for this amount was decided upon.

At the fourth annual meeting, held at Norfolk, June 15, 1900, the committee on revising the constitution reported a form which, after some minor alterations, was adopted, and, with some later amendments, is printed elsewhere in this pamphlet.

This meeting was made memorable by the presence of President Timothy Dwight of Yale University, who was naturally received with the greatest enthusiasm by all present.

The Reverend John Calvin Goddard of Salisbury introduced the following resolution, which was heartily approved and adopted:

THE LITCHFIELD COUNTY UNIVERSITY CLUB

“Resolved, That the President appoint a committee of three, to report at the next meeting, who shall consider the advisability of the club's undertaking to encourage the art of public speaking among the youth of Litchfield County, and, if thought advisable, to suggest a plan of action.”

The fourth annual mid-season meeting was held by invitation of the Litchfield and Cornwall chapters at the Litchfield Club House, Wednesday evening, October 31, 1900. Special trains, as usual, and unbounded hospitality on the part of Litchfield and Cornwall members, made possible an attendance of one hundred, representing twenty-seven colleges and universities, and the occasion was in all respects one to be remembered in the annals of the club. The presence of His Excellency Governor George E. Lounsbury and other distinguished guests added much to the interest of the occasion. Among these were Colonel Norris G. Osborn of the New Haven Register, Charles F. Chapin of the Waterbury American, and Judge Milton A. Shumway of the Superior Court.

At this meeting the following resolution was introduced by the Reverend John Calvin Goddard, chairman of the committee appointed to see what could be done to arouse interest in public speaking in the schools of the county:

“Resolved, That the Litchfield County University Club appropriate $35 for two prizes, of $25 and $10, for the best speeches presented by any boy in any school in Litchfield County, and that the president appoint a committee of three to make terms and arrange details.”

Messrs. Goddard of Salisbury, Buehler of Lakeville, and Forbes of Torrington were named for this committee; and, in accordance with arrangements made by them, three highly successful contests have been held, the first at Norfolk on May 3, 1901; the second at the Gilbert School, Winsted, on May 9, 1902; and the third at Lakeville, May 15, 1903.

The first suggestion of these oratorical contests came from the Reverend John Calvin Goddard of Salisbury, and to his zeal and activity the great success attending them is, in large measure, due. In the third annual contest the ten speakers represented eight schools located in seven different towns of the county.

The fifth annual meeting of the club was, as usual, held in Norfolk, at the home of the founders, and, like all its predecessors, was an example of boundless hospitality, combined with a refined taste and a painstaking regard for the comfort and pleasure of every guest. The dainty souvenirs, the music, the decorations, the Delmonico dinner, and the genuine air of hospitality which pervaded all, as at other banquets provided by them, left nothing to be desired, while the speeches of the evening were of unusual interest. Among these were addresses by Judge W. Travers Jerome of New York; Mr. Frederic Dielman of New York, President of the National Academy of Design; Mr. Arthur Mees, Conductor of the Mendelssohn Club of New York; and Mr. N. H. Allen, the well-known organist and composer of Hartford.

On January 3, 1902, the club had the great pleasure of meeting with the members of the New Milford, Kent, and Washington chapters in the beautiful rooms of the Ingle-side School in New Milford. As may be imagined, the hospitality extended by New Milford was in no respect less than had been anticipated, and in some respects this gather-

Highly successful concerts have been held, the first at Hartford in May 8, 1891; the second at the Gilbert House, Hartford, on May 9, 1902; and the third at Lakeside, Dec. 12, 1905.

The last suggestion of these successful seasons was the Reverend John Calvin Goodland of Salisbury, who, by his real and arduous activity the great success attending them is, in large measure, due. In the third annual concert the ten speakers represented eight schools located in some of the best towns of the county.

The 5th annual meeting of the club was, as usual, held in Hartford, at the home of the founders, and like all its predecessors, was an example of beautiful hospitality, combined with a refined taste and a painstaking endeavor for the comfort and pleasure of every guest. The guests, conversants, the music, the decorations, the refreshments, the wine, and the genuine air of hospitality which pervaded all, as at other functions generated by these well-arranged occasions, while the speeches of the evening were of real interest. Among these were addresses by Judge W. Brewster, Justice of New York; Mr. Frederic Thompson, of New York, President of the National Academy of Design; Mr. Arthur Mace, Conductor of the Metropolitan Club of New York; and Mr. N. H. Allen, the well-known journalist and editor of Hartford.

On January 8, 1906, the club held the great pleasure of meeting with the members of the New Milford, West, and Wallingford Chapters in the beautiful rooms of the Lakeside Hotel in New Milford. As may be imagined, the hospitality extended by New Milford was in no respect less than had been anticipated, and in some respects this year ing was perhaps one of the most brilliant in the annals of the club. Governor George P. McLean responded in his usual happy manner to the toast of "Connecticut." The Honorable Simeon E. Baldwin spoke at length upon "The Responsibility of Educated Men for the Good Government of their State." Other speakers were Professor Hurlbut of Harvard, Mr. Clarence Deming of New Haven, Mr. Joseph C. Hendrix, President of the Bank of Commerce of New York, and Congressman E. J. Hill of Norwalk.

The sixth annual meeting of the club at Norfolk on the evening of June 13, 1902, was characterized by the same open-hearted hospitality and unbounded generosity on the part of host and hostess which have been shown on former occasions, and which have made this annual feast-day of the club to be anticipated with such delight for months ahead. Matus's Hungarian orchestra of New York and the American Band of Torrington added greatly to the pleasure of the occasion, the latter being stationed upon the lawn in the early part of the evening and leading the grand march to the banqueting-room in the carriage-house, while the former rendered during the evening a program of exquisite music in a manner richly meriting the repeated encores which it received.

Following out his theory that if the club is to prosper, the members must be made to work, the toastmaster, President Coy, had chosen the speakers of the evening almost exclusively from the membership of the club, and certainly he could have seen no reason to regret this method of selection. Eugene Smith, Esquire, of New York and Norfolk, an authority on the subject of penology, spoke upon the "Indeterminate Sentence." Principal Horace D. Taft of Watertown, a brother of the Governor-General of the Philippines, discussed most interestingly the "Philippine Question."

Honorable George M. Woodruff of Litchfield gave what proved to be one of the most pleasing talks of the evening under the heading of "Reminiscences of Some Litchfield County Men," which, by unanimous vote, was ordered to be printed. Other speakers were the Honorable Hubert Williams of Lakeville, the Reverend H. K. Job of Kent, F. M. Williams, Esquire, of New Milford, the Reverend N. M. Calhoun of Winsted, Howard K. Landon, Esquire, of Salisbury, and Principal John C. Brinsmade of Washington.

An interesting incident at the dinner was the presentation to each guest of a small package of American-grown tea from the plantation of Dr. Charles U. Shepard of Summerville, South Carolina, who was unable to be present and address the club as expected.

The sixth annual mid-season meeting of the club was held in Watertown, the extreme southeastern town of the county, on the evening of December 19, 1902, and was unique in at least two respects, one being that with this meeting the club had, so to say, at its mid-season meetings, made the complete circuit of the county, and the other that on this occasion the club was entertained by one man whose hospitality included not only elaborate preparations for the banquet with all its accessories, but who also provided accommodations for the entire company overnight and sent them on their way in the morning rejoicing. Principal Horace D. Taft of the Taft School, with Mrs. Taft, the results of whose taste and thoughtfulness were apparent on every hand, were the host and hostess of the occasion, and throughout the stay of their guests exhibited a hospitality which was both unremitting and charming, and to their efforts the club is indebted for one of the most enjoyable meetings in its history.

President Arthur T. Hadley of Yale University was the guest of honor, and was most enthusiastically received. President Hadley spoke upon the topic "College Presidents, Ancient and Modern."

The other set speeches of the evening were given by Mr. Franklin Matthews of the New York Sun, Mr. Thomas Dudley Wells of the Hartford Post, and the Reverend F. J. Goodwin of Pawtucket, Rhode Island.

Brief, pointed, and witty responses were also made, among others, by the Reverend Dr. Storrs O. Seymour of Litchfield; Walter Holcomb, Esquire, of Torrington; the Reverend Robert E. Carter of Washington; the Reverend T. C. Richards of West Torrington; and Professor Joe G. Estill of Lakeville, who spoke for the president of the club, Edward G. Coy, whose absence on account of illness was greatly deplored. At the conclusion of Professor Estill's remarks, the secretary of the club was directed to send a telegram of remembrance and sympathy to President Coy.

The singing of the club at this meeting is deserving of particular mention, and was under the leadership of Mr. A. H. Wilcox of Torrington, who, with a group of musical members were seated at a special table.

THE LITCHFIELD COUNTY UNIVERSITY CLUB

TO-NIGHT the Litchfield County University Club celebrates its seventh anniversary. May we not all heartily unite in the hope that, recognizing the privilege and the obligation of the university man, and true to the legend of its crest,—“Lux, Caritas, Unitas, Constantia,”—a bearer of light, an exemplar of charity, with unity of purpose, the club may steadily continue to grow in influence and usefulness, becoming each year more and more a power for good, not only in the lives of individuals, but throughout every community within the limits of our beloved county.
